How the Mortgage was Paid.
By F. H. Trafton.
Whatever brightness there was in little household was strictly home made. Home made things may lack style and polish and a great many other qualities, but they are solid and satisfying. The widowed mother was brave and patient; fourteen-year old George was manly and helpful; baby Bess, a wee tot, insisted that she was mamma's sunbeam and Georgie's joy, and between them the love that these three had for each other was their principal fortune. To be sure, they had their cottage nestled like a brown little wren of a house among the cherry trees, but so far from the more pretentious street of the village as to be quite secluded in its modest retirement—a home nest, where there was more home than plenty.

One thing this tiny residence had in common with the many stately mansions that unthinkingly stand forth as if begging for public admiration—there was a mortgage on it. It was so very small a house that it really would seem as though it would not take much to crush in its low, rambling roof, like a too heavy load of snow, and the snow, is a mortgage on a poor man's house—a cold, pitiless, dead weight.

Next after her two children Mrs. Morris loved this wren-like house best of anything, and for three long years she had tried at that mortgage, saving up and paying off "by littles," until at last when of the original $500 there remained a trifle less than $40 to pay, lawyer Harding had given her notice that he had orders from the holder of the mortgage that he could no longer extend the time, and that unless the balance was paid by the first day of the month he would foreclose. This simply meant that she would lose all she had paid and be turned out of doors in the bargain. At the same time the lawyer had intimated, on giving this disagreeable notice, if Mrs. Morris would consent to marry him he would relieve her of all future financial embarrassment.

The mortgage itself was enough for one poor woman to bear; but she would rather have had all the mortgages in the world to fight than to endure the thought of a life with a man with the mean traits of this lawyer. She gave him to understand this fact as clearly as a good use of plain matter-of-fact English could do it. His words were smooth enough—too smooth, in fact—as he went away, but his sinister counterpart in his soul boded no good to the object of his thoughts. It was evident to her as though he had said so in so many words that the time mentioned would be the last day of grace.

April first came—but not the paltry balance needed to clear off the mortgage. And no sum of money is paltry when one must have it to avert disaster—and cannot get it. Mrs. Morris could see no earthly way out of her troubles that morning. Everything looked dark. It was hard to have worked so long, to have struggled for weeks, months and years, as she had done, only to lose all, at last. No, not all! For she had George and Bess left. Thinking of them made it still harder to bear, for it was their dear sakes she had toiled and economized and saved. There was a suggestion of what her eyes had been doing when George came cheerily in to his breakfast.

"What, my little mammies' eyes are half-drowned!" he exclaimed in his hearty, boyish way, with part fun and more tenderness in his tone, as he hugged her like a young bear, and dabbed kisses into each damp eye.

"Tien't me?" he continued, searching for a cause for the rather unusual display of discomfort. "No? I'm glad of that, for I don't think I've done anything downright awfully lately, and it can't be Bess! She's all right. I know—no measles or whooping cough or anything—for I just saw her sleep in like a—here he paused for a satisfactory smile, dabbing more warm kisses from rosy lips into red eyes the while—"like a happy little kitten."

"George, do eat your breakfast. It's as bad to have one's eyes kissed out as drowned out."

"Oh, I know!" he continued, pursuing the subject with no intention of being put off. "That old Harding is coming again. I'll bet anything."

"Yes, dear, he is coming!" but the little woman had not the heart to tell all that dreadful coming implied.

"Pshaw, mamma, don't worry so about it. That blamed mortgage is almost paid off and you won't have to see the mean sneek many times more."

"I don't like to hear you speak that way. It doesn't help me and it hurts you."

More kisses that said plainly as words could, "It was because I love and can't bear to see you unhappy, but if it hurts you I won't do it any more."

Then he pitched into his breakfast with as savage earnestness as though he thought he was a half-starved capitalist and his food was the luckless, but well-cooked Harding.

"I'll bet it's an April fool," said George, at the sound of an unusually loud ring at the front door. It was in reality a boy with a large official envelope addressed to Mrs. Morris, who simply said he was told there was no answer to wait for.

Nervously Mrs. Morris rose it open, as some people have a way of doing with their telegrams.

"It is the mortgage!" she cried, as she unfolded the formidable document. It was not her familiarity with law papers that enabled her to so promptly identify it; every fold and crease of this mortgage she knew by sight and long acquaintance.

"Are you sure it isn't an 'April fool', mamma?" asked George, suspiciously. Neither he nor his mother had, from past experience, any reason to expect any favors from Harding or the rich property owner he represented. Here was the mortgage in her hands—a small piece of paper, after all, to have been such a dead weight on the tiny home and the three that were in it. Careful examination failed to discover any scrap of a letter or word of explanation accompanying it.

"It is too good to be true," sighed the widow, still dazed by the event, "but people are sometimes better than we give them credit for. I have already more than paid the original amount of money which your poor father was obliged to raise, when the interest is counted in, and they may have been moved to do a kindly, generous act, although," she added, "I would as soon look for sunshine in a coal hole. If any one really has been good to me, it is not Mr. Harding, I am sure of that much; it must have been the man to whom the money belonged and for whom he works."

"If it ain't some kind of a mean 'April fool' I'll eat my hat," said George, with greater force than elegance, who would not believe the evidence of his own eyes, when that evidence was in Harding's favor.

Presently that person himself made his appearance. He had the air of one who had earned a warm welcome and expected to receive it. Between gratitude and doubt the widow smiled and her manner was so much more friendly than ever before that Harding flattered himself that he had done a very clever thing indeed.

"Yes, my dear Mrs. Morris, I sent on the mortgage ahead of me because I thought you would like to get it in your own hands at last."

"Indeed I am very glad if all my trouble with it is finally at an end," "I fully appreciate that fact, and wished to relieve you of all annoyance as soon as possible," with a plausible, self-satisfied look. "But I felt so sure your own good sense would urge you to agree kindly to my proposition, that at last you would consent to make me the happiest of men, that I did not hesitate to let you see with what perfect confidence I was ready to carry out my part of the contract to relieve you of all financial trouble."

"Mr. Harding!" was all she could say in her indignant surprise.

"Perhaps I have been too hasty—" "I am sorry you have put me to the disagreeable necessity of repeating what I thought I had said plainly enough before; I had rather give up this little home of ours and take my children I know not where than to accept any home you could provide."

Rising as she spoke, with a very becoming color in her cheeks, she indicated that the interview was at an end.

"Then, madame," he replied, also rising, "it is my painful duty to inform you that the alternative of your selection must be enforced. If you will please to notice this mortgage still lacks my signature as agent with power of attorney. That signature I shall be pleased to affix on the payment of the balance due—$37.50."

"But I thought—stammered the widow.

"You thought that I was fool enough to release you from the obligation of this document before I knew you were ready to marry me? Hardly. Have you the $37.50 handy? No? I thought not. Then, madame, I shall foreclose without any further delay and—"

"Count that, will you, and see if there isn't $37.50 there."

It was George who had heard enough of the conversation to find out that the mortgage was not paid off after all, and slipping out of the room had returned a minute later with a small box full of silver and copper, which he slapped down rather unceremoniously on the table in front of Harding. Which was the more surprised, the mother or the lawyer, it would be quite impossible to tell.

"What's all this mean?" demanded Harding, with a scowl.

"Never you mind what all this means. Just count that money and sign your name, and then if you ever bother my mother again, just look out for yourself, that's all."

"Oh, George!" was all that Mrs. Morris could say.

There was nothing for Harding to do but count the money, which was correct to a cent, and affix his signature, which he did with a face that looked like a thunder cloud, and not without mutterings that faintly suggested the disagreeable commotion inside. When he was at last out of the house, viciously banging the door behind him as a sort of harmless malediction as he went out, George caught his mother in his arms and hugged and kissed her till both were fairly out of breath.

"I earned and saved it all myself, mamma," he was finally able to explain, "doing odd jobs and things—all but the last ten dollars, and that I got for my stamp collection yesterday. I knew you hadn't the money to make the last payment, and I meant to surprise you all the time. I knew that was an 'April fool' when that mortgage came, but if there is a bigger blamed April fool than that old Harding, I don't want to see him."

"You blessed boy," was all mamma could say between laughing and crying, while it would have been hard to find three happier people on the face of the earth that day than the brave, patient mother, her manly son, and baby Bess, who got her share of the sunshine of joy.

And it would not make you the least bit sorry, I am sure, to know that the reason Harding was so anxious to marry Mrs. Morris was that he knew of some property that was soon coming to her, of which she had never heard. But when this new and unexpected blessing did come to them they did not desert the brown little wren-like home nest under the cherry trees—only it made possible George's dream of college days and a broader future.

News Clipped From Our Exchanges

Bruno Asato was stabbed to death at Melones last Tuesday evening with a miner's candlestick, in the hands of his brother-in-law, Albino Casillas. There had been bad blood existing between the two men for some time past, and there had been a number of quarrels between them. On Tuesday evening they met in a saloon, had a drink together and adjourned to a bath room and began to quarrel. It is said Asato knocked Casillas down and the latter drew the candlestick and began stabbing. People in the saloon heard the men quarreling but did not interfere, thinking it nothing but a family row. The murderer then left the saloon and went to his home and told his wife, and then made preparations for his flight. He is said to have remained about Melones for more than an hour, but no attempt was made to apprehend him. Both men have been working at Melones for about four years and both married sisters, the Misses Morales. The murdered man was about 28 years of age, and was not considered of a quarrelsome nature.

A Reno dispatch of Monday says: Adam Huff, a prospector, seventy years of age, was brought into Bodie to-day, his feet frost-bitten, his hands numbed and otherwise maimed as the result of a terrible experience in the Tioga mountains. He is now being nursed back to life, though it is doubtful if he will entirely recover from the effects of the two weeks during which he trudged through storms and snow in the Tioga range. When found he was unconscious and nearly dead. He started from Mariposa, Cal., headed for the Nevada goldfields, in the Tioga range, himself and dog became lost. For days they wandered about in the snow until finally against hunger as long as possible. Then he killed his faithful friend and with the meat of the dog subsisted until weakness, cold and suffering overcame him and he fell on the trail, exhausted and unconscious.

Charles K. Hawley, the Angles Camp attorney, died at the Johnson Sanitarium in that town last Monday as the result of burns received about three weeks ago by the overturning of a coal oil lamp in the Nevada lodge house. Hawley and a Stockton lawyer named Green were occupying the room together the latter being the guest of the former. Green was only slightly burned, but Hawley was less fortunate and from the time of his injuries little hope was entertained for his recovery. Mr. Hawley was quite prosperous several years ago and had a good practice in law, but strong drink got the better of him and brought on all kinds of trouble.

It is said that the men who dynamited James V. Coleman's mine in Calaveras county to get revenge, unwittingly played a good joke on themselves, for they uncovered a great deal of wealth for Coleman. In repairing the damage it has been found that the ledge in the mine is much wider and richer than was supposed. The Utica mine, which adjoins Mr. Coleman's property, made the Hobart family rich. It has been one of the best paying mines in California. It is thought likely that Mr. Coleman's property will prove even more valuable. The Angels papers have not heard of this lucky uncovering of wealth so it may be set down as a myth.

There was an elopement in Atchison Saturday night which ended in an original way. A girl of sixteen and her lover decided that they would marry, and run off, to add to the romance. She climbed out the bedroom window, and made her way to the gate, where she was met by the young man. It was their intention to fly to Missouri. It was a bright, clear moonlight night, and they could see several miles as plainly as day.

They crossed the bridge, and though the girl kept turning back anxiously there was no one in pursuit. "It is his wife," she said, "I made a lot of noise on purpose to waken papa."

She was so disappointed at this first break in her romance that she compelled the young man to turn back. Having the father in hot pursuit half the joy, and she felt cheated. When they returned, she found a bundle on the front gate, with this note attached: "You forgot your kitchen dresses, and here they are."

The girl climbed into the window again, and her romance was ended.—Globe.

THIS PAPER is kept on file at E. C. DAKES' Advertising Agency, 121 Sanson St., San Francisco, for the purpose of advertising contracts for advertising can be made for it.

FRIDAY..... JULY 28, 1905

NOTICE.

The Ledger has secured the services of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Andrews, who arrived on Tuesday from San Francisco. Mr. Andrews will have charge of the outside work in collecting, canvassing for new paper and job business, and assist in the office also. Mrs. Andrews will aid in reporting for the local columns. Both are conversant with newspaper work, and will be found valuable additions to Jackson's population from a social as well as a business standpoint. We bespeak for them a hearty welcome from the patrons of the Ledger and throughout the county and citizens generally.

SALARIES AND FEES COMPARED.

The system of salaries of township officers—justices of the peace and constables—is now been in operation a sufficient length of time to judge of its practical effect, financially and otherwise. Looking over the criminal returns filed with the supervisors during the year ending June 30, 1905, we find at total of 150 cases reported. These are distributed in the several townships as follows:

Township One	58 cases.
Township Two	47 "
Township Three	4 "
Township Four	36 "
Township Five	14 "

Total 150

Allowing an average charge of $8 for each case for fees, which is a liberal allowance in view of past experience in justice court matters, we have a total of $1,276 that the criminal business in justices courts would have cost the county for the past year.

But what has been the actual cost under the salary system. In townships one and four the salary of justice is $40, and of constable $60 per month; or $200 per month. In the other three townships justices draw $35 and constables $55 per month.

The outcome is as follows for the twelve months:

Townships 1 and 4—$200 per month, $2400.
Townships 2, 3, and 5—$270 per month, $3240.
Total, $5640.

Deducting $1276 from $5640, we have a remainder of $4364, as the difference against the treasury between the old and the new way of payment. The change of mode of payment, which was adjudicated to be not an increase of compensation has cost the taxpayers that much more in a single year. We predicted at the time the law was enacted that it would make a difference to the taxpayers of from $15,000 to $20,000 during the official term. Taking the figures above given as a criterion, the additional expense will foot up at the end of the term $17,456.

Calculating the average cost per case in the respective townships we reach this result:

Township 1	$20.70
Township 2	23.00
Township 3	270.00
Township 4	34.50
Township 5	80.00

In other words instead of the average of about $8 per case under the fee system, the salary plan has involved the taxpayers in the above named amount for every criminal prosecution in the respective township. A few more such reform movements would bankrupt a richer county than Amador. No wonder the current expense fund is exhausted prematurely.

EXPRESS CHARGES.

The answer of the express company to the petition presented by the public of Jackson asking for a reduction of rates between Ione and Jackson will be found in another column. It will be seen, while the company has made concessions on certain perishable goods, no general cut-down is made. The blame is placed on the Ione and Eastern railroad, and their excuse is alleged to be that they have to keep up not only the railroad but also the stage line from Martell's to Jackson. If this be the only excuse for the existing exorbitant rates, it is a very lame one. We can readily understand that the express company cannot afford to reduce rates if they are held up for unreasonable demands by the railroad authorities. They represent they are anxious to cut the present schedule, but that the railroad is not yet willing to undertake the task of reforming the schedule.

Aside from the express matter, it is very evident that the railroad company will have to come down from its present high tariff on small parcels, otherwise they can hardly expect to hold the business. Heretofore, these small packages have been hauled by teams and the merchants charged at the ton rate. The railroad, it is said, makes a separate charge for each package, at package rates, which are several times greater than the ton rate. No such system can hold the business. Some of the merchants are already preparing to have freight hauled from Ione, and if there is any saving to be made by so doing it is only a question of time when pretty well all will return to the old system.

SALARIES SYSTEM UNSETTLED.

The third district appellate court has rendered a very important decision, which will affect every county in the state whose township officers are working under the salary system, on the basis of the population of their respective townships. The court holds that classification of townships for the purpose of fixing the salaries of those officers is not sanctioned by the constitution. The supreme court has already rendered decisions sustaining this method of compensating justices and constables. The case from Amador county was so decided. The superior court of Napa county in a parallel case decided the law unconstitutional, and the appellate court has just sustained this decision. Thus the two branches of the supreme court have locked horns, by antagonistic decisions. Undoubtedly this vital question will again be reviewed by the highest tribunal, and the propositions raised thereby definitely and finally settled. Meanwhile, everything is again thrown into uncertainty by this opinion. The officers are in doubt whether they are entitled to salary or fees; and those on their official bonds are anxious whether in the event of the salary law being finally determined unconstitutional they are responsible for the past two years.

We copy from the Union a part of the decision as follows:

The Legislature may classify township by population to regulate compensation of township officers; but that power must be exercised within constitutional limits and in conformity with the rule that township as well as county officers must be regulated "in proportion to duties." Classification must not be arbitrary within the classification of counties. If the method the constitution commands shall be used in measuring the duties and fixing the proportionate compensation of county officers is adopted for measuring the duties and fixing the proportionate compensation for township officers, it follows that when population, and hence duties, are equal, the compensation must be the same to satisfy constitutional requirements.

In this case in no two instances of like population is the salary the same, when comparison is made with salaries in other townships of other counties. For instance, a justice in Riverside county, in a township having 900 people, would receive $5, and in some other counties $75, assuming that in a group of eighteen counties there is in each a township of 3000 to 5000 population, and the actual salaries in the counties being ascertained by a statute. In the same comparison a justice in an Alameda township of 15,000 people would receive but $75. The whole scheme is obnoxious to the spirit and letter of the constitution.

Suppose the counties had been classified by name, its validity would, by even the sophist, be conceded. But resort to the letterage of specification by class instead of name does not meet matters, for it creates a distinction without a difference.

Imagination cannot furnish a reason why the services of a justice in one county are more or less valuable than those of a brother justice in a township of the same population elsewhere.

Judge McLaughlin wrote the opinion, and the judgment below is affirmed. The Sacramento Union in quoting this decision says:

It may be added that in both Amador and Fresno counties the question involved came before the courts, and the classification law was held to be unconstitutional. Both cases went to the supreme court, and the judgments were affirmed. The Napa case above is understood to have raised questions to be brought up in the earlier cases. The Napa court, practically reversed the supreme court, and the court of appeal sustains that reversal. The case will probably go to the supreme court.

The decision, while it repeatedly refers to the county classification, is not to be taken as indicating that the court passes upon the constitutionality or unconstitutionality of such classification for the purpose of fixing compensation of county officers. On the contrary, it is well understood that such classification stands upon a different basis, and that what the court strikes down is the entry of a subclassification within that of counties.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When the tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

In regard to the statement published in the Dispatch, to the effect that sheriff Norman has been working in the face of a hostile administration, and which remarkable statement we commented upon last week, we may say that in conversation with the sheriff and district attorney, both officials assert that they are working, and have worked all through the Lancha Plana cases, in perfect harmony, and that all statements tending to create an opposite conclusion are without any foundation in fact. We are pleased to make this correction. The Ledger has not intimated to the contrary. The prosecution of crime cannot be conducted on any other basis than the harmonious cooperation of all officials concerned. The fact that our contemporary published a statement to the contrary however still calls for an explanation, and even more so in the face of the denials of officers concerned.

The Tuolumne county board of equalization reduced the assessment roll of that county to the extent of about $300,000 at its last session. The reduced valuations were made almost exclusively on mining properties, as it was contended that assessments on this class of property have been higher in that county than Calaveras, Amador and other mother lode counties.

Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.

For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflame the mucous membranes lining the stomach, and exposes the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete much instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

relieves all inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the stomach, protects the nerves, and cures bad breath, sour risings, a sense of fullness after eating, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD AND WOMEN OF WOODCRAFT.

Jackson Camp, No. 688, Woodmen of the World, and Encino Circle, No. 617, Women of Woodcraft, met in joint session, Monday evening, July 24th, at Odd Fellows' hall, for the installation of their officers elect for the following year.

The installation team of the Woodmen, installed in due form the incoming officers of the Camp, as follows:

G. A. Keffer, Con. Com.; L. P. Gebhardt, Adv. Lieut.; Henry M. Horr, Escort; G. O. Wrigglesworth, Watchman; William B. Horr, Sentry.

Following this ceremony, Past Sovereign Mrs. William B. Horr, in a most creditable manner, installed the officers elect of Encino Circle, No. 617, Women of Woodcraft, as follows:

Mrs. Zumbell, Guardian Neighbor; Mrs. Horr, Past Guardian Neighbor; Mrs. Kelley, Magician; Mrs. Waller, Advisor; Mr. Henry Horr, Outer Sentinel; Miss Johns, Inner Sentinel; Miss Keffer, Banker; Mr. and Mrs. Heiser, Clerk and Assistant; Mrs. Garbarini, Attendant; Miss Devan, Captain of the Guards; Mrs. Parker, Musician.

The work of the ladies' drill team was most admirable rendered and deserves special mention.

After the installation the following program of music, readings and fancy dancing was rendered under direction of the ladies:

Piano solo, by Prof. Pell; duet, by Miss Ethel LeMoine and Mrs. Dr. Schacht; solo, by Miss Martell, assisted by Prof. Pell; duet, by Misses Parker, Hazel Green; reading by Mrs. A. W. Griffith; song by Master Johns; Spanish dance by the Axelrod sisters; solo, by Mrs. Zumbell.

Refreshments were served in the banquet hall, the inevitable social hour indulged in for a couple of hours, and the wee sma' hours saw the happy members wending their way home, everybody voting a thoroughly enjoyable and instructive evening.

Saturday special sale on ladies' neck wear, fancy collars at half price, see our price for cheap collars, one day. Jackson Shoe Store.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

At midnight Wednesday the dwelling house on Broadway occupied by a family named Williams was observed to be in flames. The house was owned by Harvey Clark, and located in the rear of the house occupied by himself and family. How the fire started at that hour of the night is a mystery. Mr. Williams had come home from the night shift and all the family consisting of himself wife and child were asleep. The alarm was given in time for them to escape but not a thing of furniture was saved. The boarding house kept by Mrs. Mary A. Tregloan was close by, and was soon also enveloped in flames. Mrs. Tregloan and three of her boarders who were asleep, were awakened before the fire had communicated to their dwelling. Both buildings were of lumber, and burned rapidly. They packed out a few articles of furniture, and two trunks of the boarders, but practically everything was destroyed. The fire company got to work, not to quench the flames, in the two buildings, for they were beyond salvation before their assistance came, but to stop its spread to near by dwellings and barns. This they succeeded in doing. The night was still, no wind whatever, and this fact contributed to keeping the flames to the two buildings. The house occupied by Mrs. Tregloan belonged to Chris Marella. It was insured for $500. The loss to each is much greater, as Mrs. Tregloan had keepsakes, jewelry and mementoes which she prized far more than their intrinsic worth, as they cannot be replaced. All were destroyed. The furniture in the Williams' dwelling was uninsured, and they lost their all.

IN MEMORIAM.

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father in his infinite wisdom, has removed from our midst our esteemed associate, Willis H. Boydston, it is fitting and proper that we, his brothers and sisters of the Jackson Reading Club, should offer this tribute to his memory and thus feelingly express our sorrow over the loss our club has sustained, therefore be it

Resolved, that while we bow to the will of Him, who doeth all things well, we mourn because of our great loss, and can only be comforted by the divine promise, "Though he be dead yet shall he live again."

Resolved, that our brother, Willis H. Boydston, was known among men as that noblest work of God—an honest man, who commanded the respect and esteem of all who knew him.

Resolved, that we tender our heart felt sympathy to the mother, brother and sister of the deceased.

Resolved, that these resolutions be entered upon our minutes, and a copy be sent to the family of our deceased brother.

Respectfully submitted, J. Solari, Nellie Gritton, Frank Endey

LOCAL NEWS

Joseph Sobey left this week for Vallejo, taking with him two children, one two years old and the other three years old. He will leave them to be taken care of at the orphan's home at that place. The youngest child, over one year old, has been confined to the care of Mrs. Stribley of Sutter Creek, a sister of Mrs. Sobey deceased.

Constable Lessley on Wednesday brought down from Volcano a negro named William Gwinn. He has been in the upper part of the county for the past four months and was during that time regarded as a queer-acting individual. Lately he was found near Coral flat almost perished with cold and hunger. The constable was notified and brought him to Jackson for examination as to his mental condition.

Mrs. M. W. Folger and her daughter, Irene, also her mother, Mrs. Stagg, left Sunday morning for a short visit in San Francisco and other places.

One of the air valves of the pipe line at Electra blew out last Friday about noon. The break occurred in the new line about half way between the works and the head. The water spurted up to an immense height and caused some damage, but nothing serious. Everything was in running order again the next day, and the interim was tide over by drawing from the Buhan County power.

A. H. Kuhlman made satisfactory arrangement for material for the Taylor residence while in San Francisco last week. The material will begin to arrive this week, and work will commence on his contract next week. The foundation is completed.

J. S. Clark has been engaged to teach as principal of the Sutter Creek school the ensuing term.

A. L. Anthony has been elected principal of the Plymouth school for the next term. He will move his family to that town in a few days. Miss Nellie Payne has been appointed teacher of the fourth grade of the Lodi grammar school. There were eight teachers to be appointed, and sixty applications were received. The salaries are higher than in Jackson. Last year the salaries of all the Lodi teachers except principal were $70 per month. This year it is expected the salaries will be raised to $75 with a ten months' term. School begins the last week in August. The many friends of Miss Payne, who has taught in the Jackson school for thirteen successive years, will be pleased to hear that she has secured such a good position in the thriving town of Lodi.

A fire broke out in the roof of Fregulia's blacksmith shop on Broadway on Wednesday morning. It was near the brick chimney of the forge, and was no doubt started by sparks from the chimney. It was seen just in the pick of time and a couple of buckets of water judiciously applied averted a destructive blaze. A hole several feet long was burned in the shake roof. No alarm was turned in.

Garbarini Bros. have taken the contract to repair the Middle Bar bridge, which has been in need of repairs for a long time. They have also secured the work of putting in repair several bridges in Calaveras county.

The Amador Lumber Company has been awarded the contract to furnish the lumber for the Taylor mansion.

The new iron and glass front is to be put in the Redlick store at once. The material for this improvement is expected to arrive daily. Contractor Kuhlman will do the work.

R. J. Kerr, clerk of the Kennedy mine, returned Wednesday evening from a vacation of several weeks, during which time he made a very enjoyable trip to the Portland fair.

Wanted, a second cook at the Botto place on Sutter hill; an Italian preferred. Apply on the premises.

Jessie Prugh, a graduate of the State School of Mines and Technology, of Missouri, was a visitor in Jackson last Tuesday. He was looking for a position in one of the mines wherein he could put a little of his theory into practice. Failing to find an opening here he left for Sutter Creek Wednesday afternoon.

G. K. Orr has purchased the property known as Ranch E., 160 acres, about six miles from Sutter Creek. He has discovered a valuable vein of ore running through his purchase, and will develop the same immediately.

Rev. C. E. Winning, of the Methodist Episcopal church, Jackson, will preach morning and evening, next Sunday, July 30th. Evening theme "The Friendship of Jesus." Strangers and non-churchgoers particularly welcome. Sabbath school at 10 a. m.

Rev. William Tison, rector of St. Augustines' Episcopal church, met with quite a painful accident last Tuesday. The heavy pick which he was wielding in his arduous work of excavating for the Guild lecture room under his church, accidentally glanced and struck his foot. He has wisely concluded to "call all hands" off the works for a few days and rest.

W. H. Daniels, statistical agent of the United States government in the collection of statistics relating to manufactures and printing, was in Jackson last Monday, gathering data on the above matters. He has charge of five counties, Stanislaus, Mariposa, Tuolumne, Calaveras, and Amador. He has completed his labors in all of the other counties. The government has adopted the plan of sending out agents to collect these statistics every five years. Heretofore it was done through correspondence entirely, blanks being sent out from Washington. This method proved unreliable as many blanks never returned. Under the present system the reports will be fairly accurate.

It has been published that by a law passed by the last legislature the minimum salary of school teachers in California is $550 for the year. This would convey the idea that trustees in fixing salary cannot fix the same at a figure that would yield a total for the school term less than the above amount. For a nine months' term this would give $60 as the minimum salary. It now appears, however, that no such law was passed, or it passed was never approved. Trustees are not restricted any more than formerly in the fixing of teachers' salaries.

The first mishap on the lone and Eastern railroad occurred on the up trip Monday afternoon. Just before reaching Martell's station the switch was misplaced in some unexplained way, causing the wheels to leave the rails. The car was overturned but it was going slowly at the time so the passengers received no serious injury. Robert Love had one leg sprained a little, but nothing of moment. This was the only injury reported.

A LOCAL SPILLOUT.

Labode Kevokipeek was thrown out of an open buggy in front of Radovich's saloon, at the junction of Main street and Sutter Creek road, a little after noon, Thursday of this week. His right leg was broken at the hip. The fracture was set, and the unfortunate man is getting along as well as can be expected. John Rodovich was driving, and Kevokipeek, who has been ill for some time, was warned not to get into the buggy; but he wanted to ride down to the corner from the soda works and climbed aboard. Too short a turn was made in front of the saloon, the wheel cranked, tipped the buggy over and throwing the horse down. Both men were thrown out, and while neither Rodovich, the horse, harness nor buggy were injured in the least, the sick man was the victim and will be confined to his bed for some weeks to come.

A PLEASANT AFTERNOON.

Mrs. W. Tison, with her daughters, entertained the ladies of the St. Augustine Guild Thursday at the rectory. A most enjoyable three hours were spent in the social way that characterizes all of the meetings of this society. Some interesting stories were told of early California life. The labor problem of the state was discussed by some of the women who have thought and read along that line. The Reverend Tison gave two bright little stories as his offering to the afternoon's pleasure. Mrs. Morrow, Mrs. Joseph Kay and Mrs. Gertrude Andrews also gave readings of a humorous character. Refreshments were served.

Those present were Mesdames Oulds, J. S. Clark, E. Heath, Oliver, C. Daugherty, Phillips, E. Fisher, Story, J. Kay, H. Bright, J. Knicker, W. Perry, H. C. Foster, Patterson, and Misses Morrow, Quennie Oulds, Elsie Clark, Mary Heath and Harriet Fisher.

The society will meet again in two weeks at the pleasant home of Mrs. Joseph Kay, and will take something of the character of a lawn party.

LUTTRELL STATION BURNED.

Luttrell station, on the road to Silver Lake, was utterly destroyed by fire on Thursday last week. The fire broke out in the roof around the stovepipe while preparations were making for dinner. The upper story was all ablaze before the inmates were aware of the fact. A neighbor was there first to give the alarm. The flames had obtained such a headway by this time that nothing could be done to avert a total loss. A sewing machine and a few other articles were all that was saved. The property belonged to W. H. Glenn, who with his family has conducted it as a wayside place for some years. The fire no doubt was caused by a defective stovepipe. The loss will foot up $2,000. Whether there was any insurance on the place or not we have not learned. Anyway the loss is a heavy blow to Capt. Glenn, who bought the station for a permanent home only about four years ago.

Since writing the above we learn that the property destroyed was insured in the Niagara for $1000. L. J. Fontenrose, when en route for the mountains several weeks back, stopped one night at Glenn's station, and at that time the latter took out an insurance policy covering his entire property. At the time of the fire Mr. Glenn was not certain whether the insurance policy had been issued, as it was in the hands of the agent.

WILEYS.

L. H. Cook, of Wiley's station, is making great improvements to his mountain resort this season. He has put in a windmill with water tank of large capacity, and in many other ways has catered to the convenience of travelers. E. J. Leake, the all-around artist, has done much of the work, and he is still fixing up.

Miss McWayne of Drytown and Mrs. Blaisdell of Stockton are spending a vacation at the restful retreat of Wileys.

There are a great many camping parties going up into the mountains this year, more so far than for several years past. The tourist business, judging from the opening of the season, promises to eclipse the record for many years past.

R. S. Triggs, the well known shingle maker, has four men busily engaged in making sugar pine shingles near Wileys. These shingles command a ready sale, being preferable in many respects to redwood. This is one of the industries the incoming of a railroad would stimulate into large proportions.

CARD OF THANKS.

We hereby tender our heartfelt thanks to all relatives and friends, for the aid and sympathy extended to us in the last sickness and burial of our beloved husband and father.

Mrs. Raggio and Family.

A DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

James L. Barney kills his wife and commits suicide.

A terrible affair occurred across the Amador boundary line in the neighborhood of Wileys station last Sunday evening, resulting in the death of James L. Barney and his wife, Alta Barney. The parties lived in El Dorado county about six miles north-west of Wileys. They had a quarter section of timber land there, and spent most of their time there, both summer and winter. They had also a place in Grapevine school district, near Forest Home in this county, but the mountain place was made the principal family home. Barney was about 75 years of age; his wife was much younger, about 40 to 45 years. They apparently got along well together, and both had property. They were not in straightened circumstances by any means. Mrs. Barney was a daughter of V. J. Van Doren, a school teacher of Amador in early days, and a very estimable lady. They had eight or nine children, seven of whom are living, one or two being married. The unmarried lived with the parents in their mountain home, which is three or four miles from any other human dwelling.

The true cause that led to the shooting is a matter of conjecture. Barney was an eccentric man, but the couple seemed to get along happily together. On the day before the shooting he had been to Plymouth to get a horse shod, and on Sunday went up to his home, arriving there not a great while before the trouble began. Rumor has it that a day or two previously he had made a will, giving his property or most of it to a married daughter. That this brought on the fatal quarrel is more than probable. That a furious quarrel preceded the shooting is evident from the conditions of affairs in the house when neighbors reached there after the killing. Potatoes and other articles were scattered about the room. The old man took a double barrel shotgun and fired at close range at his wife.

The charge took effect in the right side of the head, killing her instantly. He then told the children that he was going to Jackson to give himself up. He disappeared in the timber or brush, and shortly thereafter another shot was heard. Search was made and his body was found about 200 yards from the house. The authorities of El Dorado county were notified of the affair, and an inquest held.

The El Dorado Republican of the 27th says: The officers returned to Placerville Tuesday night. They found the reports substantially correct. Barney had killed his wife at the house in the presence of two or three of their children with a shotgun at close range, the load entering her head above the ear without shattering the skull. He remained at the house for a few minutes. The children asked him why he did it. He replied that he had to; that his wife was trying to poison him. He then went into the woods a half mile on the north side of the canyon where they lived, placed the muzzle of the gun in his mouth and blew his head off. Pieces of scalp, skull and brains were scattered into the bushes for thirty feet.

Barney was evidently insane, but showed little indication previously except that he was unduly apprehensive of sickness. He had just come up from Plymouth and complained of fever, etc., to the children. The bodies were taken to Plymouth for interment. Their mountain home was a log cabin with one room in which the parents and seven or eight children had lived, but it is said they have left some considerable property that will be an aid to the young people.

EXPRESS RATES.

Mr. Story, the local agent of Wells Fargo & Co., has received word from the superintendent's office in San Francisco in reply to the petition sent in signed by the business men and others of Jackson, asking for a reduction of rates, and in answering, says that Wells Fargo and Co. are willing and will be glad to comply with the request as soon as the railroad operating between Ione and Martell make some concession. The position the railroad maintains is that they are under more expense than formerly, as they have to maintain the stage equipment in addition to the operating of the railroad. The reductions will in all probability be made just as soon as the railroad is extended from Martell to Jackson and Sutter Creek. In the meantime special rates are promised on perishables, and will be quoted in a few days.

Since receiving the above a reduction in rates has been made on butter, eggs, fruit and vegetables between San Francisco and Jackson from $3.00 to $1.50 per hundred. On the same between Sacramento and Jackson from $2.75 to $1.50, and Stockton the same. The rate applies to fish, but consignee must call at Martells for it.

H. Shields, Jake Newman, John B. Grillo, M. Newman.

Lemons, oranges, and bananas constantly on hand at Nettles' Mkt.

MINING NOTES.

Keystone.—We understand that Edward Lynch, who has held the superintendency of this mine for the past two years, resigned his position last week, and has left Amador City. R. C. Downes, formerly superintendent of the Bunker Hill, has succeeded him as superintendent. The people of Amador are well pleased at the new management, and everything about this bustling little mining town is expected to move along pleasantly and harmoniously.

Zeila.—The Zeila will probably commence next week to make the change from the old to the new hoist. The hoist has been all ready for some time, but the work of changing has been delayed on account of the flow of water. The water has moderated greatly, and the change can now be made without damage from the rise of water in the shaft. The change will take about two weeks to complete. The mill will be shut down for that length of time, as the ore bins are only equal to holding about three days' supply.

Wildman—Mahoney—it is reported that good ore has been struck in the Lincoln ground, now operated by the Wildman-Mahoney company in running the drift at the depth of 2000 feet towards the Mahoney works. This will impart new life to Sutter Creek. The company has been handicapped by the indebtedness in curried for back wages, but has struggled along in the face of all difficulties. The discovery of a good ore body in an unexpected quarter will enable the company to tide over the financial troubles, and place the property on a good working basis. John Ross the superintendent, has been out of the state on business relating to the company's affairs.

Volcano Gold Mine.—This quartz mine situated on the Mokelumne river near West Point is being pushed ahead vigorously. The ten stamp mill is up as far as the framework is concerned, and the machinery is now being put in position.

Fred Jackson and J. Podesta are working away on their quartz mine on the Spangoli land near Clinton. They report they have a showing, some of the rock assaying $60 per ton. They have a quantity of ore on the dump, but no way of crushing it at present.

CLARENCE MURPHY IN COURT.

Clarence Murphy, accused of the murder of Chester Maker and Phoebe A. Williams at Lancha Plana on the 12th of last month, was taken to Ione last Monday to appear before the justice court of that town. The prisoner was driven all the way down to the valley town in a double seated vehicle. C. M. Kelly drove the team, while sheriff Norman sat with the prisoner in the rear seat. The prisoner was handcuffed. There was not the least demonstration either going or returning. At Ione, however, the little town was all astir. The impression had somehow got abroad that the preliminary examination would be had at that time, and that the facts contained in the confession of Harry Love would be brought out in the testimony presented by the people. Consequently a big crowd had gathered, from all parts of the valley and a number from the neighboring county of Calaveras. District Attorney Vicini did not go down. The defendant's counsel, W. R. Jacobs, was late. He drove from Stockton by way of Clements and Lancha Plana. The brothers of the defendant were also there.

The crowd that had gathered in anticipation of sensational developments were doomed to disappointment, as nothing was done other than informing the accused of the charge against him, and informing him of his rights in the premises. There was no fixing of a time for the examination, as it was by this time understood that the matter would be investigated by the grand jury. The defendant was charged with the murder of Mrs. Phoebe A. Williams. The judge asked him if he had an attorney, and he replied that he had, but he was not present. Whereupon the court said that it made no difference as far as the present proceedings were concerned, as he could render no service of any consequence at that time. W. R. Jacobs, his attorney arrived after the matter was concluded.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS OF THE GOLDEN WEST.

At a regular meeting in Odd Fellows' hall last Tuesday evening, July 25th, of Ursula Parlor, No. 1, N. D. G. W., the following officers were installed for the ensuing year:

Mrs. Carrie Calvin, past president; Mrs. Elizabeth Loughton, president; Mrs. Hattie O'Neill, past vice president; Miss Alma Francis, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Rose Podesta, 3rd vice president; Mrs. Flora Gilbert, marshal; Miss Emma Boardman, recording secretary; Miss Dooley Sanguinetti, treasurer; Miss Ila Ginochio, pianist; Miss Annie Perovich, inside sentinel; Miss Daisy Lagamarsio, outside sentinel; Annie Jackson, Ida Peek and Harriet Wilson, trustees.

Following the installation ceremonies the following very enjoyable program was presented:

Chorus, by the parlor, "California." Instrumental solo, Olive Jackson; solo, Dooley Sanguinetti; Spanish dance by the Misses Larita and Minnie Axlerod; reading by Emma Boardman; chorus by the parlor.

Speeches were made by district deputy grand president, Mrs. Albina Cassinelli Dillon; Miss C. Cassinelli, grand marshal, and Mrs. George Lucot, past grand president. The banquet hall was beautifully decorated, the color scheme being red, white and yellow, the colors of the parlor. Among the visitors were the following: Mrs. Charles Joy, Mrs. V. Perfumo, Mrs. H. Hayden, Miss Richards, Miss K. Perfumo, Miss Lolar, Miss Tellier, Miss A. Cassella, Miss Amy Ferris, Mrs. Quittolo and Mrs. J. S. Clark from Amador parlor, No. 80, Sutter Creek. Mrs. Dillon, district deputy, Miss Cassinelli, Mrs. Geo. Lucot, Miss Anna McLaughlin and Mrs. Lucot from Conrad Parlor, No. 101, Volcano. Miss Rose Stral from Buena Vista parlor.

CANADIAN CASTLES.

The Most Interesting Is Chateau de Ramezay at Montreal.

To Americans castles are associated with the storied Rhine, picturesque England or France and Spain, but it is interesting to be reminded by the St. John (P. E. I.) News that there are a number of ancient Canadian castles still existing, the chief ones being St. Ours, Rimouski, St. Eustache, L'Anse-au-Loup, Montbello, Ste. Marie de la Beauce, Vaureil, Rouville and, most interesting of all, the Chateau de Ramezay at Montreal. The latter was built in 1765 by Gertrude de Ramezay, at that time governor of the district of Montreal and knight of the Royal and Military Order of St. Louis. From him was descended the last French governor of Quebec at the time of the capitulation in 1760. From that time to 1840 the castle remained in the possession of the government and was the residence of the French and English governors until the capital was transferred from Montreal to Quebec. It is now owned by the Antiquarian society, which has made of it a museum for historical relics of the old regime, and as such it possesses much interest for visitors to the one time capital of New France.

DEAD ONES.

A town that never does anything in a public way is on its way to the cemetery. Any citizen who will do nothing for his town is helping dig the grave. A man that will curse his own town is furnishing the coffin. The man who is so selfish as to have no time from his business to give to city affairs is making the shroud. The merchant who will not advertise is driving the hearse. The man who is always pulling back from public enterprise throws bouquets on the grave. The man who is so stingy as to be always howling hard times preaches the funeral sermon and sings the doxology, and thus the town lies buried free from all sorrow and care.—EX.

TIRED OUT.

There's many a wife sits in the growing shadows of an evening, knowing what it is to feel tired out, as if there was not another ounce of effort left in her. But if healthy she knows how sound her slumber will be and how refreshed the morning will find her. But it's another thing for the sick woman to feel tired out. Most often it seems to increase her suffering. She feels acutely the aching back and throbbing nerves. Sick women, hundreds of thousands of them, have been made well by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I am pleased to inform you of the benefit I received from using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. Elizabeth A. Oswald, of 45 Brant Street, Windsor, Essex Co., Ontario, Canada. "I was quite discouraged when writing asking your advice, as the physicians here told me I could get no relief except by an operation. Suffered for four years from irregular and profuse menstruation, had sick and nervous headaches most of the time, and at times could hardly walk across the floor from weakness. I thank God there is such a remedy as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for suffering women. Before I had taken the first bottle the headaches had left me and it was not long before regularity was established and I felt better than at present. I gladly recommend 'Favorite Prescription' to all who suffer from female weakness. It has cured me and made me stronger in every way. Neither my husband nor myself can say enough in its praise."

The selfish seller who urges some substitute is thinking of the larger profit he'll make and not of your best good.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

A giant leatherback turtle weighing 716 pounds, was sent to the American museum of natural history, New York, the other day. It was caught off Block Island and is said to have been the first taken along the Atlantic coast in fifteen years.

While a small engine weighing fifteen tons, used by the railway contractors, was crossing the Victoria falls bridge just after daylight it ran over something on the line, says South Africa. The driver pulled up to ascertain the nature of the obstacle, and was considerably surprised to find an enormous leopard lying terribly injured between the rails. The brute expired in a few moments. It measured eight feet in length, and a marvelous feature of the incident is that the engine was not derailed. The leopard it is assumed, wandered to the bridge and sprang at the engine as it approached.

The prince of Monaco, a devotee of deep-sea curiosities, has found luminous shrimps living at great depth where all is dark. When put in an aquarium they lose their light-giving properties. It is said that probably most, if not all, deep-sea creatures are luminiferous or phosphorescent, some of them diffusing light from the general surface of the body and others from special organs.

The first patent for a sewing machine was issued in England in 1790. This early invention was not successful, and other patents were issued in 1804, 1818 and scores of times since.

The inverted glass bells which are hung over lamps to catch the smoke are said to have brought their inventor the largest sum ever obtained from a small invention.

In a new registering rain gauge, of German invention, the drops fall on a balance arm, which, by breaking an electric circuit as it dips, registers the fall. The number of drops in a half minute is taken to calculate the intensity of the shower.

A new Scottish work attempts to prove from geological phenomena that gravitation is electrical, and that it is identical with terrestrial and solar magnetism.

The self-examining of the eye may be accomplished by a new form of ophthalmoscope invented by an Englishman and known as the entoptoscope and which utilizes pin-hole vision. The pin-hole is made in a sheet of metal. When it is illuminated, sharp shadows of any opaque or semi-opaque object in the path of the rays within the eye ball are thrown on the retina, and the growth of a cataract two pin-holes close to one another, in a revolving diaphragm, the magnitude and distance of the object from the retina can be estimated.

In the copper mines of Atacama, Chili, says the engineering and Mining Journal, the body of an Indian miner was found a short time ago who had been killed by a fall of the roof while collecting the mineral atacamite in a small basket which was still in his hand with his stone implements alongside. The body was in a perfect state of preservation, due to impregnation of the tissues by copper salts, as well as to the antiseptic action of the dry climate. The body was probably 300 years old.
